

A Study about the Importance of E-Education for Human Resource Development in India

* Mohd Irfan

Abstract

The objective of this paper is to analyze the role of E-education in the human resource development (HRD) of India. The study has focused on various facts regarding the education and how it is concerned with quality human resource development, current status of education viz quality, satisfaction level, The study also pointes out the need of E-education in training and skill development of the working person in order to gain the competitive advantage over the developed nations. This paper has also discussed that how E-education can play vital role in developing quality human resource and bringing economic prosperity in India.

Keywords: E-education, human resource development, quality, skill, satisfaction.

* Research Scholar, Department of Business Administration, DDU Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur, India. Email-yourirfan123@gmail.com